Great for those with no finance experience

By Austin Jensen

So I have zero experience in finance whatsoever, my undergrad was in communication. I picked up this book for my MBA class and felt like they did a really good job of explaining the material, even for someone in my situation. The book does a good job of relating real world work situations as well as situations that a person would face in their personal investments and finances. It does offer online tutorials that we didn't use, I would assume that this would also help with understanding the material.
